East Forsyth was to have opened its track season today against West Forsyth in a Forsyth 3-A Conference track meet, but yesterday's rain postponed the event.

The Eagles will have tri-captains this year: Bill Alexander, a senior and cross country letterman, is a 440 and relay man. Raymond Warden, a senior, was second in the conference high jump last year and is strong in the broad jump. David Beeson, a basketball player and cross-country leader, should be one of the top milers in the conference.

Francis Crosby is a leader in the 880. Calvin Sell will compete in the hurdles, broad jump and relays. Tony Larimore competes in the shot and discus events, and Calvin McGee is a 440 or 880 runner. These are the East lettermen.

Coach Dan Crowe says he will depend on a promising group of sophomores to give the Eagles depth and, in some cases, 10th graders will carry the brunt of the East attack.

Crowe thinks the Eagles will be strong in the distance events.

A track report from Gray High School (Coach Bobby Robinson) is not so optimistic.

Gray lost its track when building began on the dormitories for the arts school, so the Hounds will have to hold all their meets away from home this season.

"We had 40 boys out last year. This season we have only about 12," said Robinson. "Our most experienced boy is Rodney Anderson in the shot and discus. Dieter Cardwell has had some experience in the 880."
