High school highlights:

Baseball teams in the Forsyth 3-A Conference have set up home diamonds away from home. Griffith is the only school playing its games at home.

East Forsyth's baseball field is being constructed, but it's too short and the Eagles are playing their games at Glenn Junior High as they did last year.

North Forsyth's field isn't ready and the Vikings will move around for their home games. They'll play some at Hathaway Park and some at Ernie Shore Field.

North ran into problems when it worked out plans for its field during the winter. They set up the back-stop without thinking about directions and found that the hitters were looking into the afternoon sun. That meant the job had to be done over and it's not finished.

West Forsyth, which opened last fall, has a nice field laid out but it doesn't drain well. The long periods of rain have left West's field standing in water. So, Coach Marcus Allred is moving to Clemmons.

Griffith did a lot of work to get its campus field ready last year and the Panthers will play their games at home.

up enough. North's track is in and should be in top shape, again if the rain stops so the final touches can be made.

Coach A. C. Larrimore of the Vikings hopes to have some meets at night. The North track runs around the inside of the football stadium and spectators would have a good place to sit and watch at night.

Griffith and West don't have tracks. Griffith's track candidates work around the playground and edge of the baseball field. West's runners must carry all their equipment to Southwest to work.
